

AUTO ASSOCIATION WILL REORGANIZE

Meeting Called for That Purpose Next Monday Night.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT

Road Building Needs the Service of Automobile Men.

During a meeting of the Tulsa Auto association, scheduled for the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce next Monday night, January 24, there will be a complete reorganization and election of new officers. The event is one of the most important in the association's history, and all members are requested to participate in the reorganization.

It is realized that interest in the Tulsa organization is only lukewarm, notwithstanding that there are more motor cars per capita in this city than elsewhere in the United States. It is therefore necessary to reorganize the association and to make it more active and efficient.

Since the organization of the Oklahoma State Road Building association, it is realized that an automobile association with a big membership of motorists is needed in every city of the state, and it is the desire to make that of Tulsa the leading organization in the kind.

Need the Better Roads.

There probably is no class of men who need better highways more than those owning automobiles, and it is figured that if clubs of these men can be affiliated with the road building association much more good may be accomplished than otherwise would be the case.

Mr. Williams, who has been acting secretary of the Tulsa association for some time, will be in attendance at this meeting and it is his intention to exert every effort to stimulate more interest in the organization's work. Mr. Williams is well acquainted with the subject of better roads and what influences automobile associations have in their building and maintenance, and it is his intention to tell everything he knows about this subject.

In many cities much which is accomplished has been under the auspices of the local automobile associations, while in Tulsa this has not been the case. It is probable that after this meeting, however, the subject of better roads and what influences automobile associations have in their building and maintenance, and it is his intention to tell everything he knows about this subject.

NO FOREIGN POLICY IN THIS COUNTRY

"Fundamental Defect of the Navy Is That It Has No Brain."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Attack upon and defense of the administration's preparedness policy again today, marked the sessions of the National Security League. George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, Henry A. Wise Wood, who recently resigned from the naval advisory board, and Representative J. Hampton Moore, president of the Atlantic Deepwaterways association, led in the day's program of addresses. At tonight's session the program continued with addresses by Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee and Senator Phelan of California, whose subject was "The Pacific Peril."

Mr. Wood arranged the administration's conduct of foreign affairs, asserting that "we have no foreign policy at the moment." Mr. Meyer declared that the fundamental defect of the navy department was that it had no brain and Mr. Moore assumed the "repeated and continued failure" of the government to build ironclads fought by other wars and develop waterways near the coast adequate for naval strategic moves which might become necessary in war time.

Among the administration's defenders was Rear Admiral Cully M. Chester, retired, who reminded the league that the president alone was vested with authority to recommend to congress naval and military improvements.

"If you don't like the way the president handles this problem," he said, "you have the recourse of turning him out of office, but so long as he is in office we should remember that he represents the entire nation and should support him in the recommendations he makes along this line." A resolution voicing the league's support of the president, introduced by Admiral Chester, was not acted upon. For formulation of definite suggestions to congress a committee, headed by Luke E. Wright, former secretary of war, was appointed. Members of the committee freely expressed their advocacy of some form of universal military training and the inclusion of that subject was forecast.

William Garrison Forfeited
His Bond of Five Hundred Dollars.

COURTHOUSE GRIND

Two Charged With Robbery
Held for Trial in Superior Court.

The case of Moryt Kopenhagen, the Tulsa juvenile, charged with abducting a child under the age of 15 years and marrying her, was continued again yesterday. Justice of the Peace Lee Daniel called the case in the afternoon, but another suit occupied the attention of the court and it will probably be tried today.

Kopenhagen and his 13-year-old bride, formerly Amy Jack, and who eloped with the juvenile driver from a convent at Muskogee, have been living in West Tulsa since their marriage at Highgate. The girl's mother is prosecuting Kopenhagen.

The case of Thomas Skarr, charged with grand larceny, was continued until January 28. A charge of selling a forged instrument was continued until the same date.

William Thomas, charged with assault with intent to kill, had his case continued until January 28. Howard Fetters, charged with assault with intent to kill, and together with his wife for assault, drew continuances until the 28th.

$500 Bond Forfeited.

When the case of Will Garrison, charged with grand larceny, was called it was found he was not in the courtroom and his bond of $500 was declared forfeited.

John Burke pleaded not guilty to a charge of robbery, but Judge Daniel thought the evidence was strong enough and he was held for the superior court with his bond fixed at $2,500. In default of bail he went to jail.

Charles McCoy was held to the superior court with his bond fixed at $2,500 when he was charged with examination in a charge of burglary.

The case against Jim Craig, charged with assault, was dismissed. George Harris, charged with attempted burglary, had his case continued until the 28th.

Due to many of the informations being in the hands of the grand jury, the criminal sessions each Friday in the justice court are unusually heavy.

MAYOR APPOINTS M. J. GLASS.

Will Assist in Investigation of Purchase of City Supplies.

Merritt J. Glass during the meeting of the city commissioners yesterday, was appointed by Mayor Frank M. Wooden to serve on the special committee, whose duty will be to conduct an investigation relative to the purchasing of supplies for the city. The appointment was necessitated through the refusal of Mark E. Carr to serve as a committee member. Other members of the committee are M. E. Cline and M. J. McNulty Jr.

It is the intention to launch the investigation at the earliest possible date, to insure an early report.

CHARGES SON WITH KILLING FATHER

Lawton Men Arrested and Held Without Bail;
Causes Sensation.

Special to The World.

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 21.—George Hopkins and Elmer Akers, arrested Thursday night on the charge of having murdered A. T. Hopkins on the night of November 8, 1915, were formally arraigned in the court of Justice of the Peace S. A. Armstrong Friday afternoon and entered pleas of not guilty. Hopkins is being confined in the city jail while Akers is being kept in the county jail. No one has been permitted to see the prisoners except their attorneys, upon orders from the county attorney's office. All sorts of rumors have been current since the arrests but they are unfounded as neither man has spoken to any one except their attorneys. W. C. Stevens is chief counsel for Hopkins and it is rumored that Attorney Norman Pratt and the law firm of Godding & Lillard of Oklahoma City, also Attorney Wash. Hudson of Tulsa, are to be associated with Johnson & Stevens in the defense.

Attorney Norman Pratt arrived in the city on the 19 o'clock Express tonight and is closeted with Attorney Stevens. The fact that these attorneys are to assist in the case, however, has not been confirmed. It had been expected that Tom Cullie and Dan Brookings, the negroes arrested in Oklahoma City, charged with the murder, would be brought to Lawton today and an immense crowd met the noon Express but neither the officers nor prisoners were on the train. Announcement of the arrests of Hopkins and Akers in the case caused considerable sensation here. As ten weeks has elapsed since the murder, the general opinion was held that the case was closed.

payment for water service furnished the schools. The decision was the outcome of a report read by City Attorney Ramsey, setting forth the terms of a compromise suggested by the city.

It was the contention of the commissioners that the city should be reimbursed for the actual pumping charges, about five cents per thousand gallons. If this is agreed to by the school board the city will attempt to collect no charges for water used previous to the commencement of the present school year.

It is the intention to present the matter to the school board in the near future.

Robs California Bank, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—A highwayman today robbed the Culver City Commercial & Savings bank of Culver City, near here, of $500. He fled after locking the cashier in the vault. Packages containing approximately $20,000 were overlooked.
